ROSEDALE, KANS.

The Pleasant Valley Mission Circle was delightfully entertained by Mrs. G. W. Schooler at her residence, 1183 Southwest boulevard, Monday afternoon. Mrs. J. R. Williams has been somewhat indisposed the past week. Mrs. Frank Huff is quite ill at her residence. Mrs. Fannie Frye, who was seriously injured while riding in a wagon January 29, is convalescing at her residence in South Park, Kan. The wagon in which Mrs. Frye was riding collided with a street car. Mrs. Frye was accompanied by Mrs. Hatcher, Mrs. Mave Williams and Rev. Dorsey. Mrs. Williams was killed and the others were seriously injured. Mrs. Hatcher and Rev. Dorsey are convalescing. All services at Pleasant Valley Baptist Church were well attended Sunday. In the morning the pastor preached on the "Crossing of Jordan" which was full of good thought. There were four additions to the church. In the afternoon a glorious covenant meeting was held and at night the Communion was administered. Each service at the St. Paul A. M. E. Zion Church was good. At the Union meeting Rev. David St. Clair of the St. John Baptist Church was present. Rev. St. Clair was accompanied by quite a number of his members and he delivered a soul-stirring sermon and a Gospel feast was enjoyed. $31.38 was contributed. The Widows Club served dinner and realized over $8.00. Rev. Wright of Mexico, Mo., is preaching in our revival services. Come and hear him and you will be benefited.

Deceased was the widow of the late Robert Lindsey who passed away about three weeks before. The Lindsey family came to Lincoln from Denver, Colo., about three years ago. The funeral was held in Mt. The Senior Stewardess Board met with Mrs. John Payton on Wednesday afternoon. Much work was accomplished on the quilt the ladies are quilting. The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Virgil Smith on the following Wednesday. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Payton. The Junior Stewardess Board held their first meeting of the year Friday afternoon with Mrs. C. M. Williams. The meeting was devoted to the electing of officers and discussing the work to be done in the future meetings. They adjourned to meet with Mrs. E. W. Finch in two weeks. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Williams. The ladies of the Baptist Sewing Circle held their Bazaar Friday evening which was indeed a great success. An interesting program was rendered during the evening and refreshments served later by a committee. Rev. O. H. Burbridge is still carrying on his revival which we all feel is benefiting a number of Christians as well as the new converts. The meeting will continue through this week. Mr. Fred Williams, who has been in Junction City several weeks, spent a few hours in the city Sunday evening with relatives before returning to his home in Chicago. All Salina is grieved to lose one of its prominent young women, Mrs. Ella Thompson Goff, who died Sunday afternoon at the home of her father, Mr. James Thompson. Mrs. Goff had been ill only a few days with pneumonia. She is survived by a father and five brothers, two of whom are still in service. We extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

The church has been freed from all indebtedness and the spiritual and financial condition of the church is in a good and healthy condition. A revival meeting was held January 15th to the 25th. There were thirteen conversions. The great Evangelist, Mrs. Blanche Blake, of Kansas City, Mo., assisted the pastor.

Rev. U. S. G. Moore and his congregation were blessed with the good fortune of securing the services of Madame M. E. Tivis, Evangelist, of 1909 Lydia Avenue, Kansas City, Mo., to conduct a ten days' meeting at Mt. Cavalry Free Baptist church. Notwithstanding the inclement weather the meeting was a success spiritually and financially. Twenty-four were added to the church. Madame Tivis preached her farewell sermon Monday night to a crowded house at which the several pastors, who were in the city, were present. This meeting was full of spirit and power as were all the previous meetings. At Prof. A. D. Murray and wife's home where Madame Tivis spent the time while conducting the revival, a nice dinner was served. $31.30 was received for work in the Master's vineyard. The young ladies of the church gave Sister Tivis a nice little shower party consisting of presents and tokens of their appreciation of her interest, care and exhortation manifested for their well being.

"THE HOMESTEADER"

Oscar Micheaux's Famous Story Makes Great Picture.
There is a saying, and perhaps, very true, that the "road to hades is paved with the best intentions in the world." So in saying that the public has awaited a demonstration on the part of the Negro in the silent art it is well to explain that that demonstration awaited is a creditable, dignified achievement—and in Oscar Micheaux's "The Homesteader" this has at last come.

Among our reasons for this statement is this undeniable fact: "The Homesteader" is first a story. Adapted to the screen from the author's novel of the same name, which it took six years to write, it is obvious this should be a play worth the watching. Additionally, it took nine months to produce the play. Well, time takes money, another reason why the Race has failed to receive the carefully detailed play they have craved.

The producer of "The Homesteader" well knew all this; he was aware of the shortcomings of previous efforts, so before commencing the production it is well for those who are going to see this play to understand that lack of capital has been no hindrance in the production, for the reason that those with whom the producer is associated have stood ready at all times with unlimited means.

The Story.
"The Homesteader" involves six principal characters, the leading one being Jean Baptiste, the Homesteader, for off in the Dakotas, living where he alone was black. In him we have the embodiment of strength, courage and conviction. To this wilderness came in time Jack Stewart, a Scotchman, with his motherless daughter, Agnes. In Agnes, Baptiste meets the girl of his dreams, only to make a discovery in the same instance upon which the story has its first climax. But Agnes didn't know that she was not white. Peculiar fate threw her in the company of the Homesteader, and their love, forbidden by the custom of the country, is the most appealing and idealistic ever created. Of how Baptiste sacrificed the love of his girl of his dreams, went back to his own people, marrying the daughter of a preacher, and the circumstances that came of it, marks the second epoch in the development of the story.

In the case of N. Justine McCarthy the author has done a work that is typical of our life today, and the whole public in any way acquainted with the present race minister must appreciate it—narrow, spiteful, envious, McCarthy is the embodiment of vanity, deceit and hypocrisy. He really admired the marriage his daughter had made—was proud of it. He spoke of the "rich" young man she had married, eulogized him to the highest. But, Baptiste did not understand that McCarthy, to be satisfied, was in the habit of having people praise him. This Baptiste forgot in the first to do; in the second, he was not of the temperament to do it, and upon this failure grew the tragedy of a marriage and the happiness of McCarthy's daughter, Orlean, a sweet girl, kind and good, but, like her mother, without the strength of her convictions.

Of how then Baptiste was sacrificed to the altar of McCarthy's hatred and vanity; of how Orlean failed him at those crucial moments; of how Ethel, her sister, like her father, possessed with all the evil a woman is capable of, forces her weak-kneed husband, Glavis, to assist her and her father in their persecution of Baptiste; and then, of how in the end Orlean, made insane by the evil she had been the innocent cause of, rights a wrong, bringing Baptiste back to his land. He comes back to the girl he has discovered the truth about and the story has a beautiful ending after a life of storm and misery.

Chas. D. Lucas as Baptiste has played his part with a completeness that will bring great admiration. Miss Iris Hall as Agnes and Chas. S. Moore as her father have portrayed their parts without a flaw. Evelyn Preer as Orlean is strikingly sympathetic, while Miss Inez Smith as Ethel could not have improved. Vernon S. Duncan as McCarthy does very well, but had he been possessed with the fine art as completely as the rest he would have made a name for himself that might have meant fortunes to him as a character artist. Treva Woods as Ethel's husband, Glavis, has done well, while William Gorge as Agnes' white lover and "Bill" Prescott is perfect.

"The Homesteader" is not a sensational picture or story as western stories go, but it is the story of the west as it is, a theme that will prove educational as well as interesting. To the credit of the producers, among other things, must be given the fact that every detail of the production has been given the most minute care; the characters for their particular parts have been chosen and conform to the description in the book so fully that it is marvelous.

—This Great Picture will be exhibited at New Center Theatre, Fifteenth and Troost, all week, beginning Sunday, March 2. Don't fail to see it.

QUINCY ILLS.

TAG SALE FOR SOCIAL CENTER NETS $864.58.

Negro Social Settlement Given Encouragement by Public.

Wednesday was Tag Day for the Social Center, the name of the recently opened social settlement house at Tenth and Chestnut and early in the morning some seventeen teams started out with tags to be disposed of for the benefit of the new institution. Last night when the committee consisting of John Carroll, Charles McMillen and Mrs. A. A. Whipple opened the boxes which the women used during the day the sum was found to total $864.58. The money is to be used in the settlement work which is being conducted in that section of the city by a number of church workers, under the direction of Mrs. A. A. Whipple.

There were fifty girls all told under the direction of Rev. S. M. Duke, and the city was divided into districts just the same as it has been done heretofore for blessing and St. Mary's hospitals. To the amount realized from the sale the sum of $25, the result of a recent church entertainment, is to be added.

It is the belief of the promoters of the Social Center that by furnishing an attractive place for the colored people, where they may go while unemployed and read the newspapers or other wholesome literature, that great good among the race may be accomplished. The advisory board in charge of the Center is composed of J. M. Winters, W. Emery Lancaster and Assistant Postmaster John Carroll.

The team captains in charge of the tag sale were Mrs. George Webster, Mrs. L. Robertson, Mrs. Thomas Munday, Miss N. J. Edwards, Mrs. J. W. Tutt, Mrs. Susan Humphrey, Mrs. Florence Cook, Mrs. Belle Clark, Mrs. Nannie Hall, Mrs. Laura Webb, Mrs. Nora Kenady, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Sophia Humphrey, Mrs. Esther Mitchell, Mrs. E. L. Roberts, Mrs. Rosella Webb, and Mrs. Louise Thomas.

WEST VIRGINIA SCORES BIG.

By J. C. Gilmer.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 24.—The prohibition against the exhibition during the period of the war of the "Birth of a Nation" and similar pictures and plays, put into effect last summer by an order of the Executive State Council of Defense, was continued indefinitely by the legislature, Thursday last, when it passed a measure drafted by H. J. Capehart, one of the three colored members of the lower house. The law provides as a penalty not only for exhibiting, but also for advertising such pictures and plays, a fine of not more than $1,000 and a confinement in jail of not more than 30 days, the latter at the discretion of the court.

Other legislation of special benefit to the race was the creation of the office of state supervisor of colored schools with a salary of $2,400 per annum and $500.00 for traveling expenses, and an advisory board to the state board of education to be composed of two citizens of color, the compensation of each to be $1,000 a year and $500 for traveling expenses. This advisory board, acting with the supervisor, practically will have charge of all matters pertaining to the state's colored educational institutions. It authoritatively is reported that among the first duties it will be called upon to perform will be the recommending to the state board of education of a president for the West Virginia Collegiate Institute, where a change has been under consideration for some time.

In the matter of appropriations for the next two years the legislature was very liberal to the colored institutions. For the erection and maintenance of a hospital for colored insane, $165,000 was provided. Forty thousand dollars was voted for land, buildings and current expenses of a colored deaf and blind school. Other institutions and their appropriations are: Colored tuberculosis sanitarium, $42,000; orphans' home, $77,000; West Virginia Collegiate Institute, $146,000; Bluefield Colored Institute, $67,000; Storer College (a private institution), $5,400; Barnett, Harrison, Mercer and Lomax hospitals (privately owned), each, $2,500; a total of $508,000.
